DAILY GAZETTE.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Don Carlos started for England on Saturday.

—Ohio has sent over 23,000 visitors to the Centennial.

—"James Centennial Jones" has just been christened at Ithaca, N. Y.

—Mrs. Lander has had "The Scarlet Letter" dramatized, and will appear in it as Hester.

—It consoles the New Orleans Republican that Charley Ross will soon be big enough to find himself.

—Just think of it! New York has expended about $260,000,000 on new buildings in the last decade.

—Strakosch purposes to open a mammoth Concert Hall, in Chicago, after the European plan, this season.

—New York physicians complain that malarial diseases are spread through the agencies of public laundries.

—Beecher confesses to weighing two hundred and five pounds, having gained forty five pounds in the last six years.

—Mt. Upton, Chenango county, N. Y., has a first-class scandal case, and the papers say the result is the women folks can't even get time to wash their dishes.

—A good idea. The grand jury of Trenton, N. J., is asked to indict about a dozen female scolds who are constantly keeping the community and the police courts in hot water.

—The silver lining of this present cloud of financial distress and adversity is that, while we're hard up for money, the life insurance man and the book agent don't come around any more.

—The body of Hans George Nageli, the Swiss song writer, was exhumed recently and placed under a monument, erected on the High Promenade in Zurich. He was the author of the popular song "Life Let Us Cherish."

—Some beautiful bright green snakes are reported as having been discovered in the Black Hills. As the miners out there generally wear boots and drink whisky, we are inclined to believe there is some truth in the story.

—Some thieves stole one hundred thousand dollars worth of tickets from the Pennsylvania railroad office, at Princeton, New Jersey, but the company at once cancelled the tickets, and afterward secured the arrest of the thieves.

—Several English iron ma ported as bankrupt. This, to the recent panic in Portugal, an gious riots in China, are only mo ing evidences of the incapacity of Grant and our present Republican istration.

—Ex-Mayor Daniel Tieman, of York, and wife, celebrated their gol wedding the other day. Among the frien in attendance were the venerable Peter Cooper, who was present at the marriage of the aged couple fifty years ago, Hon. Chas. O'Conor, Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt, and Hon. Wilson Hunt.

—There is a change in Mr. Orpheus C. Kerr's case at last. A few days ago he was offered a peach. He tried to swallow it, but failed. The following day he tried half a peach, and, to his astonishment, retained it in his stomach. Next day he sat down to supper with his family and is now rapidly convalescing.

—The production of cattle in the Western States more than keeps pace with the sales. Prices are therefore lower, though the retail dealers have not discovered that important fact. A new market has been found in Europe for refrigerated beef, and it sells there rapidly. In London it is dethroning the roast beef of Old England.

—The Fall River mills, for the first time since 1873, are all running on full time. Orders are received for goods enough to occupy six months or a year. The water is low at present, and mills are embarrassed. The operatives are already agitating for higher wages, but a strike is not anticipated. This revival at Fall River is a prelude to a general return to activity throughout New England.

—Baby swimming in New York appears to be quite fashionable. In a swimming school there for feminines, in which a Miss Bennet is the teacher, she had a match, a few days since, between two infants, aged about four years each, and they appear of about equal skill. They plunge into the water over their depth with fearlessness, and none of the scream and scare of the grown-up belles.

—We may expect another rush to the Black Hills now. News has been received that gold has been found in valuable quantities, and this will have the effect of attracting hosts of deluded men. The fact that the Indians are determined to rid the Black Hills of white men will not deter these adventurous spirits, for the love of gold will tempt a man into all kinds of danger. The Black Hills seem more likely to prove vast burial grounds than mines of wealth.

—The Western press wishes it understood, once for all, that Sitting Bull is not a West Point cadet in disguise; that he does not speak French; that he resembles neither Napoleon nor Governor Tilden; that he is not a picturesque Logan or Metamora, pacing with melancholy mein up and down his wigwam and sighing, "Where is the home of my fathers?" but that he is merely a dirty, bloody, cut-throat Indian, with a game leg and an enormous capacity for whisky.

—The midnight oyster no longer disports himself with impunity. Since September came in with its fateful R, the gentle bivalve has been doomed. No longer a supposed invalid, he will not be confined to his bed, but he becomes the prey of rakes and trawls, and will appear in countless multitudes wherever his natural foe, man, is to be found. The oyster always seems to be calmly resigned to his fate. He makes no effort to escape, but, serene and composed between his little shells, awaits the inevitable knife, and goes plump to the spot where he can do the most good. Nothing so becomes his life as his manner of leaving it.

—Edmund About naturally enough has no profound affection for Herr Wagner. He amiably says: "One Richard Wagner, a German revolutionist, pitiful and oblivious refugee, ungrateful guest of the Parisian pavement, gutter-haunter of the purlieus of the opera, cacophonous and conceited favorite of our over-long-eared melomaniacs, has for the last three days been performing a premeditated uproar, on fair booth trestles, gilded ad hoc, near the little Bavarian town of Bayreuth. This Hervé, devoid of his spirit, gayety and melody, this stunning and icy ear-splitter, has, without saying why, become the rampant enemy of France."

—The London Times has often enough warned and threatened Turkey about the atrocities practiced upon the Christians. If England is to do nothing otherwise than through the newspapers, it is time perhaps that she stopped doing that. And that she can do anything more seems impossible consistently with her policy of bolstering up the sick man lest his house be taken possession of by some power nearer and stronger than herself. This policy is not quite Cromwellian in independence, to be sure, but it has more of the let-alone principle which belongs to a commercial age, unless the letting alone should lose a market for merchandise.

—The condition of the industrial classes in Northern Germany shows that flush times are quite as demoralizing as hard times. After the close of the Franco German war wages rose to an unnatural level, all classes fancied that the flood-tide of prosperity had set in, thrift was discarded and luxuries became indispensable, a craving for wealth beset all classes and discontentment was fomented, and the ultimate result was deterioration of workmanship. Herr Reuleaux has summed it up: "The products of German workmen are wanting in finish, wanting in soundness, wanting in taste, and absolutely devoid of imagination." The best work in the world is done by contented workmen who are moderately prosperous.

—In average years Great Britain produces 112,000,000 bushels of wheat, and imports both as wheat and flour 72,000,000. This year the wheat will be less than the average, and probably not larger than that of 1875. It follows that under ordinary circumstances Great Britain ought to require as much wheat from foreign sources during the ensuing 12 months as she has since last year's harvest. Prices ought also to be better than in years of abundance, inasmuch as the quotations from 1854 to 1874 do not show a single instance of a low price when the English harvest has been below an average. Dull trade, which invariably decreases the consumption of all food products, must, however, be taken into account. Allowance will also have to be made for the immense yield in California, a large part of which will be exported to Great Britain, and of course effect the market there.

—Visitors at public places during the season now about to close must have been struck by the fact that there was less foppish extravagance in circulation than has been the case for many years. While money was so plenty no prominent situation was without its parade of excessive dress and pantomime, and the conspicuous features of many of them were the exquisite beaux who flourished under the smile of amiable good fortune. It has not been so this year. Hundreds of those who formerly gathered about hotels in summer time have been driven into obscurity by the exigencies of the times, and cigars, wines, fancy canes and fast horses have been far less in demand. All this, we hope, will be a means of grace to those who apparently suffer by it. And it is certainly greatly to the accommodation of such as seek and enjoy quiet and sensible recreation.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

How To See It In Three Days—The Second And Third Days' Sight-Seeing.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., September 2.—The whole of the second day should be spent in the Main building. The sections are exclusive and no difficulty will be had in finding any desired country. Begin either at the East or West end of the building, making the circuit of each section and return to the point you started from (which should be the main aisle) before going elsewhere. By this means no confusion of impressions will occur. I have arranged these notes for the reader's guidance in alphabetical order, regardless of location. Cut slips of blank paper a little wider than this column, and about three times as long, stitch them together at the top and at the head of each page, paste one of the notes given below, leaving space underneath for such additions as you wish to make. At the bottom of the pages alphabetize your book, the same as the margin of a ledger, cutting away the ends of each preceding page, and you have your own guide-book. With this we may begin our tour around the world.

Naval Drill.

It is not the intention of the Secretary of the Navy to visit Port Royal this year.

National Zoological Garden.

General Babcock, in his annual report, recommends an appropriation by Congress of $200,000 for the establishment of a Zoological Garden in the Capital, wherein to gather specimens of all animals of the country, and such other varieties as may be deemed best. The appropriations for the fiscal year for the General's department were all expended. His estimates for the fiscal year 1877-78 amount to $540,000. There is no appropriation for the current fiscal year.

The Anthracite Mining Regions.

HAZELTON, PA., September 2.—The coal operators of the Lehigh region have decided that work should continue on the following terms: Miners and other inside hands to be paid prices based on the average price of coal on board vessels at the ports of Amboy, South Amboy or Hoboken, and with the prices of coal as fixed for the month of September, their wages will be reduced about fifteen per cent. All engineers, bosses, firemen and outside hands will be reduced from ten to twenty per cent. The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company make no reduction in tolls or freights from the miners to Penn Haven. The only reduction is in tolls between Penn Haven and Perth Amboy. The rate now fixed for September is one dollar and thirty cents per ton. The men accept the terms.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Pennsylvania Coal Company has issued a circular giving the following as the prices of coal during September: Lump coal per ton, $3.10; steamer, $3.10; grate, 3.35; egg, $3.35; stove, $4.00; chestnut, $3.60.

Cincinnati Criminalities.

CINCINNATI, September 3.—Charles U Fosdick, aged twenty-four, was killed last night on Spring-grove avenue while intoxicated. The manner of his death is a mystery. When found he had been run over by a street car and the abdomen cut open, but a wound in the head, evidently from some sharp instrument, is unexplained. Geo. Starr and a girl named Nellie Robinson, who were with him, have been arrested. Morris C. Newman was seriously, and perhaps fatally, stabbed by a party of roughs in Gano street about twelve o'clock last night, for endeavoring to save an old man from their abuse.

Later.—The coroner's examination into the death of young Fosdick, last night, shows that the fatal injuries were the result of being run over by a street car, and that the wound in the head was only slight. Newman's condition to-night is more hopeful, with a probability of his recovery.

Funeral of the Dead Pugilist.

PHILADELPHIA, September 3.—The funeral of Koster, or Walker, the dead prize fighter, took place this afternoon from the residence of his father. The neighborhood was crowded with people, thousands of whom viewed the remains. Rev. W. B. Erven, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, conducted the religious services in the house. The entire route of the funeral procession and the streets in the vicinity of the cemetery were crowded with men, women and children. Weeden and Goodwin, his trainer, arrived to-day from New York, in charge of police.

Strike of Locomotive Firemen.

ST. LOUIS, September 3.—A dispatch from Leavenworth, Ks., says the firemen along the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad are on a strike, the company having issued an order discharging all wipers, thus imposing double duty upon the firemen. Two or three attempts to throw trains off the track on the Southeastern Division of the road have been made, but with no success. A few of the rioters have been arrested.

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

Desperate Fighting at Alexinatz.

The Streets Filled with the Wounded and Dying.

The Servians Panic Stricken and Fleeing by Battalions.

The Turks in Hot Pursuit.

TURKEY.

LONDON, September 2.—A dispatch from Belgrade says the Turks concentrated on the left bank of the Morava at Adrovotz and on the heights near Teschnitza, and yesterday commenced an attack on the Servian positions. The engagement became general between Adrovotz and Jedcovotz, and continued until 11 o'clock last night. Both sides maintained their positions. The battle was resumed to-day, but the result is unknown.

Prince Milan will leave Belgrade on Tuesday to rejoin his army. He will go first to Drena, then to Ibar, and then to Alexinatz.

The editor of the semi-official newspaper Istok has received numerous letters from the permanent committee of the Skuptschina, the municipalities of Belgrade and provincial towns, and from mercantile corporations, thanking him for advocating a continuance of the war. The letter from the Skuptschina committee was signed by all the members.

BELGRADE, September 2. — Fresh arrivals of Russian reinforcements continue to reach us and to pass on to the front. Fifty Russian officers came last night, and forty others, with thirty cassocks, to-day. This contingent certainly includes some officers of the Czar's Imperial Guard. One hundred and forty-four of their comrades have leave of absence for Servia. Russian officers declare they have saved Servia. It is stated they drive the Servians to battle, when necessary, with pistol and sabre, and shoot down laggards remorselessly.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 2.—The foreign ambassadors, at a meeting at the English Embassy, agreed upon the form in which mediatory proposals shall be conveyed to the Porte.

The Porte, disgusted by Russian news and the influx of Russian volunteers into Servia, is considering the advisibility of closing the Danube.

RAGUSA, September 3.—It is stated that the Turkish commander, Maukhtan Pasha, succeeded in revictualling Bilex, returned to Trebinje, and proceeded with 10,000 men to Barjani. Djelaleddi Pasha, with 5,000 troops, is marching in the direction of Bilek.

ALEXINATZ, September 3.—The Turks attacked the Servians on the left bank of the Morava on Friday. At ten in the morning the Turkish left began to advance, but meeting with strong resistance for three hours, little progress was made. The Turks then made a vigorous assault, and the Servians retired, but in good order. At 4 P. M. the Turkish right attacked the Servians with success. Simultaneously with this advance the Turks attacked Alexinatz.

LONDON, September 4.—A dispatch from Belgrade says the Turks bombarded Alexinatz from the right bank of the river, and fired the town in several places. It is announced that Alexinatz has been evacuated, but the fortress is still held by ten battalions, and is defended by powerful artillery.

Another dispatch from Alexinatz states that the Circassians entered three Servian redoubts northwest of Alexinatz. Mines filled with dynamite were discovered. The Turks have gained a base for operations against two villages which protect Alexinatz on the west.

The Russians are determined to form a special corps. Their valor in the battle of Friday is commented on. It is reported some were wounded by men under their command.

The Turks, after beating the right wing of the Servians, made a flank movement in the direction of Krusavatz, the object being to reach Belgrade. The entire military position is changed. Tchernayeff is marching with the bulk of his army toward Krusevatz. He has telegraphed to Belgrade for reinforcements, and the Servian Minister of War has ordered Gen. Antelich to march to Krusavatz with 12,000 men.

A Times correspondent at Belgrade telegraphs that Friday's battle was the battle of the war.

A correspondent telegraphs that when the villages around Alexinatz were fired by Turks in Friday's battle the Servians became panic-stricken and whole battalions fled. The carnage was terrible. The streets of Alexinatz were filled with wounded and dying. The Turks pursued the flying Servians, pouring in a fearful fire.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 2.—Besides the failures in the Cleveland iron trade, there has been an unusual number of smaller bankruptcies announced during the week in trades and manufacture, the liabilities ranging from $20,000 to $40,000. Advices from Dundee report great depression in trade there. A fortnight ago one of the largest works in that town closed, throwing nearly two thousand persons out of employment. Yesterday Ritchie & Simpson announced that one of their mills would be closed on Thursday next, and also intimated the possibility of having to dispense with all their weavers, between two and three hundred, in another mill at the same time.

The Manchester Examiner to-day reports the failure of Messrs. Strubing, tea and sugar merchants, of Moscow, Russia, with large liabilities, of which $750,000 fall on England.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

Horatio Seymour and the New York Democrats.

ELMIRA, N. Y., September 2.—Judge Gray, Chairman of the late Democratic State Convention, telegraphs the State Committee it should not name a candidate for Governor in place of Seymour, but either recall the convention or call a new one. Judge Gray says he received a telegram from Governor Seymour declining a nomination for any office, and withheld it from the convention by the advice of the Chairman of the State Convention, who recommended that no mention be made of it until the committee to confer with Governor Seymour had been heard from. The chairman of this latter committee reporting that Seymour would accept the nomination, made it unnecessary to read the dispatch.

UTICA, N. Y., September 2.—Daniel Magone, Jr., Senator Kernan, Hon. Scott Lord., J. Thomas Spriggs, A. M. Beardsley, and other Democrats went to Deerfield this morning, and received from Governor Seymour a refusal to withdraw or modify his absolute declination to allow the use of his name as a candidate for Governor.

NEW YORK, September 3.—The following telegram, published to-day, explains itself:

UTICA, N. Y., September 2, 1876.

Hon. Charles A. Dana, Editor of the Sun, New York:

I shall not accept the nomination. My letter of declination is now in the hands of Mr. Magone, the Chairman of the State Committee.

HORATIO SEYMOUR.

The Gubernatorial Canvass in Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, September 2.—Yardley, colored, of Knoxville, a practicing attorney at law of that city, and late Justice of the Peace, announces himself as a candidate for Governor in the Knoxville Chronicle, because the State Republican Convention to which he was a delegate failed to carry out his views on questions vital to the Republican party, and voted down every proposition in the interest of his race. He says he is confident of his candidacy for the good of his party and his race. Governor Porter, Democratic candidate, has signified his willingness to divide his time with Mr. Yardley, also with Mr. Thomas, the other Independent candidate.

St. Louis Soft Money Men.

ST. LOUIS, September 2.—A County Greenback Convention was held here to-day, and delegates chosen to the State Convention to be held in Jefferson City on Wednesday next. A mass meeting of considerable magnitude was held by them at the Court House to-night, which was addressed by a number of local speakers.

Failure of Hat Manufacturers.

NEW YORK, September 2.—John T. Waring & Co., of Yonkers, the heaviest hat manufacturing firm in the United States, have failed, with liabilities amounting to about $400,000, of which $198,000 is due banks of this city. They employed 700 operatives. The assets are said to be greatly in excess of the liabilities.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

A Canadian City Almost Destroyed.

Six Hundred Houses in Ashes—Hundreds of People Rendered Homeless—The Loss Estimated at $2,000,000.

ST. HYACINTHE, QUEBEC, September 3.—A fire which proved most disastrous broke out here this afternoon in the bakery kept by M. Chaput, near the postoffice. The flames spread rapidly, till they reached the river, near the Grand Trunk Railway bridge. In about two hours the entire business part of the town was in ruins. Six hundred houses were burned. Not one hundred were left standing.

Second Dispatch

The fire commenced in the west end of the city at 1:30 P. M., and favored by a high wind, soon totally swept the lower part of the city out of Main street, taking in the St. Hyacinthe, Quebec and National banks, Postoffice, Market, Court House, factories and over eighty wholesale and retail stores. At three P. M. the fire had spread by means of burning cinders to the three paralleled streets, and burned everything up. People had not time to save anything. At seven P. M. six hundred houses had been burned. A steam fire engine arrived from Montreal by special train at 5:30 P. M., too late to be of much service. Hundreds of families are homeless, with nothing to eat. The loss is roughly estimated at two million dollars. The Royal, Statacoua, Quebec, Provincial and Royal Canadian Insurance Companies are heavily interested.

TYRONE, PA., September 3.—Alberts Bros' steam saw mill, Jonathan Boynton's lumber yard, and the railroad company's water tank at Woodland were burned by an incendiary this morning. Loss $40,000; insurance $14,000.

BOSTON, September 2.—The Gun Rock House, at Bingham, a well known summer resort, was burned this morning. Loss $150,000. The guests saved their baggage.

PHILADELPHIA, September 3.—Mund & Albrecht's establishment at the falls of the Schuylkill was burned. Loss $40,000; insurance $10,000.

HORRIBLE ATROCITIES.

Religious Lunatics in Arkansas—A Man Cut to Pieces and His Head Placed on a Fence Paling—Two of the Band Killed and Others Arrested.

ST. LOUIS, September 2.—The Globe Democrat has a letter from Kensett, Arkansas, detailing some atrocities committed by a religious sect called "Cobbites," at a place named Gumspring, White county. It appears an old man named Cobb rules the community, and is regarded by his followers as Jesus, and obeyed accordingly. For some time past singular noises have been heard at Gumspring by persons passing there, and a few days ago C. D. Humphreys, of Searcy, and a Mr. Blake, of El Paso, determined to ascertain the cause of them and clear up the mystery. They therefore visited the locality, and as they were passing a hut from which issued strange sounds a man named Dover, one of the Cobbites, accosted them, said God was in the hut, and invited them to enter and see him. They alighted from their buggy, and Humphreys was at once seized by four men and Blake by four women. Blake broke loose from his captors and ran about one hundred yards, when, on looking back, he saw the men cutting Humphreys to pieces with long knives. He hastened to town and reported the case. A party of citizens at once started for the scene of murder. On arriving at the Springs they found Humphreys killed, his head cut off and stuck on a fence paling. A boy riding by was compelled to get off his horse, bow to the head three times and utter a prayer. A parley ensued between the leader of the citizens, T. C. Black, and Dover, of the Cobbites, during which the latter took Humphreys' head from the fence several times, shook it back and forth and replaced it on the paling, at the same time ordering the citizens to leave. At last Dover and his crowd advanced on Black and his party in a menacing manner, and the latter fired upon them, killing two men and wounding another. The remaining four men, four women and two children were arrested and taken to the jail. Other Cobbites were also arrested and taken to Searcy. There was great excitement among the people. Lynching was threatened. Next day a preliminary examination was held, and all the parties released. They talked incessantly about their religion, and there seemed little doubt they were all crazy from the effects of religious excitement and starvation.

Later advices say a coroner's inquest was held on the body of Humphreys, and the jury returned a verdict that L. B. and J. M. Dover, Thomas Gainley, and John and Elizabeth Nelson are guilty as principals of the murder of Humphreys, and John and Lee Dover and Clementine Dover guilty as accessories. L. B. Dover and Thomas Gainley were the two men killed by the posse that made the arrests. Old Cobb escaped to the woods, and at last accounts had not been captured. It appears Cobb came from Michigan, where he taught his atrocious doctrines until driven out. He first settled in Southern Missouri, where he made a few converts, and it is said offered up infants as sacrifices. He was driven away from there, and with his fanatical followers went to White county, Arkansas, and induced a few more ignorant people to join them. The accounts received do not give any definite reason or cause for the attack upon Humphreys and Blake and the murder of the former, but the Cobbites seem to have been wrought up to a high degree of religious excitement or frenzy, and were urged on by old man Cobb, who had taught his deluded followers that he was not only Christ in person, but that he uttered decrees of God himself, and that anything they did was devoid of sin.

Resignation of U. S. Marshal Packard.

NEW ORLEANS, September 2.—The following was made public to-day:

OFFICE OF U. S. MARSHAL,
DISTRICT OF LOUISIANA,
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31, 1876.

To the President:

The fact that I am a candidate for the office of Governor in the approaching election renders it proper that I surrender the office of which I am the incumbent. I therefore tender you my resignation of the office of U. S. Marshal for the District of Louisiana, to take effect as soon as a successor is appointed and qualified. I avail myself of this occasion to express my high personal regard for you and my gratitude for the generous and assuring confidence which you have bestowed on me during my official relation to the Federal Government, extending through a continuous period of more than seven years, much of the time under circumstances of extraordinary difficulty. In view of my relation to the impending canvass in this State, I respectfully suggest that the vacancy be filled with as little delay as is consistent with a proper selection.

I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,

[Signed.] L. S. PACKARD,
U. S. Marshal.

Burglars Captured.

CHICAGO, September 3.—Captain Turtle's detectives successfully worked up the case of the bank robbery in Rensaler, Indiana, and arrested three men—Jos. Filkins, alias Martin, and Martin Davis, of Chicago, and N. V. B. Warner, a saloon keeper at Rensaler. The burglars had been some weeks tunneling under the bank vault, and were about to take the money when they were captured. The vault contained about $200,000, besides valuable securities. Bill Wray put up the job, but was drowned before its completion.

Interesting Letter From Poland, O.

We want to get a Piano for our Seminary, and I wish to enquire of you what Piano you will recommend for school use, whether a Steinway or some other make. What do you think of the United States Piano? I have already bought two Steinway Pianos of you, years ago, both of your own selection, and they have given such perfect satisfaction that I have more confidence in your opinion than any other dealer in Pianos. Please write us at once what make of Pianos you recommend for our purpose, and what is the lowest you will sell us one for, etc. Yours truly, B. F. LEE,
Poland Union Seminary, Poland, O.
To Henry Kleber, Esq., of H. Kleber & Bro.
July 6th, 1876.

The above flattering letter is but one of many similar ones received by the great Music House of Kleber & Bro., and it goes far to prove the superiority over all others of the Steinway manufacture, and of the high estimation for honorable dealing in which our respected townsmen are held both in this city as well as hundreds of miles beyond its limits.

MONDAY SEPTEMBER 4, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 45¾f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 103¾.

GOLD closed in New York Saturday at 109⅞.

IT seems rather amusing to look over the comments of the several papers, relative to the nomination of HORATIO SEYMOUR, a day or two after he has positively declined the honor.

GENS. CROOK and TERRY will not come out of the Indian country with laurels on their brows if, after being so near them, they suffer them to commit depredations and murders, and finally escape. There has been an unaccountable tardiness in their movements, and the Indians have leisurely moved about at their own sweet pleasure.

THE very suspicion we expressed, as to the purpose of putting forward a man who would not accept the nomination in New York is shared by the better element of the Democratic party there. The man who assured the Convention that all was right and SEYMOUR would accept, shifts the responsibility off on another, and a loud and emphatic demand is made for the reassembling of the Convention. In the meantime TILDEN's chosen band quietly wait for a chance to nominate one of their own tools. Sharp practice is evidently carried a little too far in this instance.

IN a trifle over two years, if the public debt is paid off at the rate reached during August, we will owe less than two thousand millions. The changing of the preliminary "two" to "one" in making up the debt statements will have an encouraging look, to say the least. The September debt statement shows a reduction of over three millions, which, while on the right side, is not so large an amount as will be reported some other months. At the close of the war, the debt looked immensely large, reaching, as it did, up toward $3,000,000,000. The decrease, so constant and steady, is encouraging.

WE quite admire the tactics of such of the Democratic press as label themselves independent, and then assume that Governor HAYES shall be responsible for anything said or done by any of his party friends. The trick is not a new one, but it can be indulged without trouble from any one. The latest use of it, was by the Philadelphia Times, asking HAYES to disavow CAMERON's order relative to punishing the Southern Kuklux. As Mr. HAYES has nothing to do with the order, an article in a Columbus paper is seized upon as an answer, and a column of comments follow. We suppose it is as cheap to fight a newspaper as anything else.

THE international regatta, on the Schuylkill, proved to be an unfortunate affair, so far as good feeling and fair play is concerned. There were so many untoward circumstances that we judge there will be no probability of another international regatta in American waters for a long time to come. The English are reported to have acted in a very improper manner, one of the American crews refusing in consequence to have anything to do with them. They operated in the spirit of rowdies, and would have been fouled by the Yale boat, had not the latter chosen to hold up and be beaten rather than perpetrate an impropriety. It was not to the credit of the English crew that they acted as they did.

THE depression in the British iron trade is fearful, particularly in the Cleveland district, where five large establishments have failed, one having liabilities to the amount of over $5,000,000. Since 1850, when the Cleveland mines were first worked, the production has increased annually, the yield last year being 6,000,000 tons. In the same time the blast furnaces multiplied from 36 to 158, producing 2,000,000 tons of pig iron. Great profits were realized from these sources, which were largely invested in rolling mills for the manufacture of railroad iron. A sharp reaction followed. The American demand ceased and Russia largely reduced her orders. Iron rails fell into disfavor, steel being deemed safer and more durable. These and other adverse circumstances of less account have crushed the iron-masters. This shows that in the struggle for supremacy, during the past several years, our iron-masters have held their own most admirably.

CONCERT SALOONS.

One of the most threatening evils in our midst at the present, and that threatens to thoroughly undermine domestic morality, is the free concert, or waiter-girl saloon. We have not examined whether we have an ordinance prohibiting such institutions, but if we have not, Councils should enact a stringent ordinance on the subject at once. If we have, the Mayor should promptly and rigidly enforce it. We hope the various benevolent societies, particularly those whose mission is to women, will give attention to this subject. We have the clearest and most reliable information that young women are enticed into these saloons, without any suspicion of their true character, and are there ruined. There are many, just now, who feel the necessity of earning their subsistence, and are naturally attracted by the inducements offered, to render what they may suppose to be honorable and reputable service. But once they are entrapped, their ruin inevitably follows. There should be some proper movement made to check the growth of this evil, and the sooner the subject is taken in hand the better.

Pittsburgh has been comparatively free of this evil till of late. But several experiments have been successfully made, and now the evil is established, and will flourish and grow, unless the most rigid efforts are made for its suppression. A sense of humanity should prompt to the most energetic efforts to this end. Where those already tainted pass through these saloons to a lower level of depravity it is bad enough, but where pure and virtuous girls are decoyed there, that they may be ruined, it is terrible. This is exactly the situation of affairs at this time. And all reputable citizens should join in the work of freeing the city of this evil. It is utterly surprising how far, and into what respectable families these vile influences often extend. Their possibilities cannot be estimated or provided against. They are liable to carry their influence where least expected; and the more reputable the girl, and more respectable her family, the greater the joy of these human vampires over her ruin. We may also say, that no reputable girl can enter those places and fail to suffer in reputation and character. Her purity is suspected the moment she enters the place, and efforts to perpetrate her ruin commence. We warn poor but honest parents against permitting their daughters to enter such places, and urge upon Councils, the Mayor, and reputable people generally, that a great evil in this direction has sprung up in our midst, to which they must give attention if they care for the morality of the young.

ENGLISH AND TURK.

The effect of DISRAELI's cruel policy of permitting the Turks to continue their atrocities in Bulgaria and Servia is to thoroughly arouse the people of England, and to call forth from the press not merely expressions of bitter indignation, but full details of the horrible barbarities perpetrated. Even the London Times, cautious and time-serving as it usually is, declares "Such is the rising anger that, if they were to repeat on the soil of Servia even a small part of the horrors which they have committed in Bulgaria, the strongest Ministry would be powerless to prevent this country from rushing into an intervention which might settle the fate of Turkey forever." And, to show the propriety of controlling the bloodthirstiness of the Turks, it points out that in other wars the same spirit prevailed. There have been horrible massacres in Constantinople, Smyrna, and Cyprus. Three thousand Greeks were massacred in Rhodes. In Scio, thirty thousand men, women and children were sold into slavery. The hostages were murdered, and not enough people were left to gather the harvest. The whole career of the Turks has been one of the most fiendish cruelty. Hence, the conduct of DISRAELI is the more singular. He has been indifferent, until his very power is threatened by an indignant people.

There has been some speculation in England as to his motives. Recognizing his allegiance to the faith of the Jewish people, so far as he gives allegiance to any faith, there are inquiries whether he should not remember the sufferings of his race from just such barbarities, and seek to repel any repetitions of the spirit of barbarism and outrage. Yet he possibly remembers that Christians inflicted those sufferings, in many instances, and hence is indifferent that others should suffer, as a propitiation for race crimes. But such a view would be so vindictive, and full of the malevolence of race, that it is hard to believe DISRAELI can be governed by it. The charitable conclusion is, that the weight of years is heavy upon him, and he lacks the sensitiveness and positiveness of other years. At best, he was not a man of deep feeling. There was always an indifference to surroundings about him that made the man a mystery to a great extent. Yet he was ever alive to his own interests, and these, it is fair to presume, will have their influence yet in arousing him to a sense of duty.

In the meantime, unless Russia should step boldly in and aid the Servians and Montenegrins, they are doomed, not merely to have their armies defeated, but to suffer untold horrors at the hands of the Turks. Really, the Turkish power in Europe is a reflection on the civilization of the age. It may be a puzzling question as to what to substitute, but that power, barbarous and vindictive, should be driven into Asia. The course of England, in sustaining it, fixes a stigma on the Government that can never be effaced. This is relieved by the strong expressions of the press and people; but this should be made to compel the Government into an acquiescence to the popular will. No civilized power, no matter what its financial inducements, can afford to sustain Turkey. There is no good quality in the Government or people that can be availed of to rest a palliating claim upon. It is brutal and bad, and should pass away.

THE OIL TRADE.

We need have no controversy with a person who hides his individuality under a nom de plume, and after writing a long communication to a contemporary on the oil question in criticism of our views, closes with the fishy declaration that he is not interested in oil. He evidently is interested in one who is interested in oil; and if our suspicions do not lead us astray, that one, while apparently acting against freight discriminations in oil, was doing a little discriminating on his own account by means of oil certificates; and as soon as these were used up sold out to the combination. Our article was the discussion of a general principle and was clearly correct. If it was not the Standard Company, but another combination that raised the price of oil, let the rightful parties have the credit for putting oil at a figure that will bring the country $40,000,000 more than was realized on given shipments at the lower prices that have prevailed so long. Our point is that the country at large, with its heavy national debt, is interested in getting all for its exports that the foreign markets will stand; that for years past, owing to the fights that have been kept up, we have been receiving $40,000,000 a year less than we should on the exports made; that we have nothing to do with the details of a business fight, in which one party is just as good as the other, so far as moral and business principle is concerned. We have statements from both sides, and know of what we speak. We therefore say that the fight, no matter who is right or who is wrong, has been continued beyond all reason now; and that the country cannot afford to pay $40,000,000 a year to witness the continued entertainment of an oil fight, which at times has about as much dignity and moral purity in it as an ordinary dog fight. We are not defending the Standard or any other combination in these remarks, but the manifestly proper principle that the interests of the country at large are entitled to some consideration. It does not matter to us who put up the price of oil, so it is maintained at about the best figure the foreign market will bear. Whoever does this is entitled to credit, and those who oppose to blame,—no matter who they may be.

As to the details of past fights we have nothing to do with them. It is simply disgusting that the moment a word is said relative to the conducting of oil business on the basis of sound business principles, we must hear the everlasting whine about the Standard company. It may be as black as it is painted for all we know; but is every one else in the oil trade pure? Have no shortcomings been made by others? Are not some of those who howl about the rise of oil "short," or were they not when the rise occurred? If not, what are they howling about? The Standard people have not said a word to us, or the public, so far as we know; and if they were so largely short when oil rose, and lost so heavily, they, at least, had the good sense to say nothing; while, very strangely, those who profess to have been working for high prices, as against the bearish propensities of the Standard, are making an uproar. What does it all mean? If all the oil operators are honest men, honestly buying, or producing and selling oil, the rise in price helps them, and our article was intended to show that these prices could and ought to be maintained. Why do they complain of the advance, particularly if the Standard is hurt by it? The truth is, speculation runs all through the business, and the presumption is that the howlers have been hurt. We simply hold, however that may be, that the best interests of the country demand that oil shall be held at about $3 50 a barrel, and whoever put and holds the price there is a public benefactor. As to who has, and who has not done this, we have not inquired, and do not know.

The imputation that the GAZETTE favors combinations and large capitalists, rather that young business men, is utterly untrue. Our experience in life, and our inclinations, lead us to feel an interest in and sympathy for the young and struggling business men in our community. We simply utter, in this matter, our views totally irrespective of any faction whatever. We were invited to interview certain parties of the "bear" interest, but declined. Our idea simply is, that the country is benefited by a fair price for oil, in the amount drawn here from abroad, and in the impetus it will give to business, if prices are maintained. More than this, our course is exactly in the interest of all who are honestly engaged in the oil business, whether they be young or old, rich or poor. It certainly hurts no honest dealer, that prices are good. The only parties that can possibly be hurt are those who are "short" in oil, and who are merely gamblers, in that they have sold what they did not possess. If any of our young dealers have started in at the gambling end of the oil trade, the sooner they are broken up the better for them and the community. The GAZETTE rests its entire view of the business on its interest in the welfare of this country. We are, in this case, merely applying lessons in political economy which we have consistently taught for years past. These are, that this country should ultimately restore specie payments; that in order to do it our exports must be made to overbalance our imports; that the development of prosperity is essential to this end. If we can get $40,000,000 additional for what oil we send abroad, it is an important step to this end. We, therefore, favor any honest operation that lifts up the price of oil; and we strongly suspect the honesty of any party who raises a howl over the rise in price. It looks very much as though he were a bear, or in the service of the bears. As to who is entitled to the credit of raising the price, we care nothing. If it was the Standard Company it did a good thing; if it was somebody else they did a good thing. We notice, however, now that the point is raised, that the Standard seems perfectly quiet, and the others howl. What does this mean?

CAMP MEETINGS—OLD AND NEW.

The old camp-meeting was an evangelizing agency. Churches were few, families were scattered over a wide territory, preaching and the LORD's Supper were privileges enjoyed only at intervals of weeks, or even of months. The camp-meeting supplied an acknowledged want of the people. They came together, from places near and remote, to satisfy their hunger for spiritual nourishment, and earnest ministers had the opportunity not only of preaching the Gospel to large collections of people, but to people who had not become hardened by resisting the truth with which they had been earnestly plied from their childhood. Convenience, dress, the preparation of victuals, social enjoyment, were little thought of in those days, by those who got up the camp-meeting, in comparison with the serious business for which they assembled. They went into the wilderness to worship the Lord. They were intent upon spiritual refreshment for themselves and they labored earnestly for the conversion of the irreligious. Many persons were drawn to their meetings by curiosity. Some went to mock and disturb the worshippers. The politician was there to solicit votes. Some persons greedy of filthy lucre carried on traffic in a clandestine manner; and some, if rumor may be credited, were guilty of practices that may not be named without offence.

Nevertheless, great good was done. The incidental evils were only exhibitions of human depravity that would have found some other place or occasion to display itself. The meetings were justified both by the motives of those that projected them and the results that were attained. Converts were multiplied, the religious life of thousands was promoted, churches sprang up, and many a convert became a zealous and successful preacher of the gospel.

The modern camp meeting is a religious luxury. The class of persons by which it is patronized are not driven to the woods by lack of religious privileges at home. They would not suffer a famine of the Word if the camp meeting were abolished. For convenience of access, for orderly arrangement, for elegance of detail, for all that pleases the eye, the ear, or the appetite, the new camp meeting throws the old into the shade. The canvas tent is sometimes seen, but greatly improved. The covered cart, log hut, or shelter of rough boards, has given place to the snug, sometimes ornate, and even costly, cottage, wherein some if not "all the modern improvements" are found. A floor of boards, covered with carpet substitutes the litter of straw or hay to which our youngest eyes were accustomed. Mirrors, bureaus, pianos, cottage organs, napkins, silver forks (plated), hanging baskets, singing birds, chromos, engravings, flowers, and the et ceteras of a well-furnished home are familiar objects at the modern camp meeting. Croquet and concerts are not tabooed. The novel may be found if diligently sought for, newspapers are no novelties, the professor of the art tonsorial is on hand, and the busy boot-black is ready to give you "a shine, sir." The toilet may not be so elaborate as at New York or Saratoga, but any one who supposes that dress is among the things "left behind" is mistaken as to every article except the bustle. Visiting and social enjoyment are no inconsiderable factors. The modern camp-meeting is a pleasant gathering of well-to-do religious people, who, from considerations of economy and piety, spend a few weeks of the summer in the woods, free from the excitement and temptations of fashionable resorts, preferring to enjoy themselves in a rational manner, and have the advantage of daily public worship and the ministrations of their favorite preachers, while others whose tastes or opportunities incline them, take their more ambitious and costly,—but not more healthful nor really enjoyable,—summering at the places where fashion and folly hold their court.

The motives of those that patronize the modern camp meeting are not to be condemned. They seek health, recreation, rational enjoyment, and they hope while promoting these to do something directly for the furtherance of their own spiritual life and the conversion of sinners. But it is certain that the modern camp meeting as an evangelizing agency is inferior to the old. There is more order, comfort, elegance, "respectability," but less singleness of aim, less power, less success. "The world" persecuted the old camp meeting; it patronizes the new. The new is too "respectable" to attract people from the highways and hedges; and it is too expensive for many a sinner that needs the gospel quite as much as his more prosperous neighbor. "THE POOR HAVE THE GOSPEL PREACHED TO THEM, PROVIDED THEY HAVE MONEY TO PAY THE GATE FEE!" is a proper inscription for the entrance to the modern Camp Meeting. The gate-fee is a trifle; but when it is multiplied by the number of times that a man might wish to visit the camp, taking wife and children with him, and is further augmented by railroad fare and other necessary expenses, it amounts to a sum that a poor man in hard times can ill afford to spare. Mean men would take advantage of free admittance and give nothing when the collection is taken up, leaving the burden of expense to the free hearted. Expenses must in some way be provided for, all will admit; but if the object is to reach the masses, every inducement must be offered, every obstruction removed. A little of the wisdom of the keepers of saloons, put to a better use, would be no disadvantage to the managers of camp meetings. Music, mirrors, gas, pictures, and flowers are freely used by saloon-keepers to attract, and there is nothing to pay at the door. They provide these things calculating that they will be remunerated at the bar. The "children of light," if wise in their generation, will be no less free in the use of their money, hoping to be rewarded by winning souls.

It is a question with some thoughtful Christians who are not enemies of the camp meeting per se, whether the modern camp meeting that keeps its gates open on Sunday and thereby invites the running of extra trains of cars on that day and gives occasion to much traffic that otherwise would not go on, is not doing more to promote infidelity than pure and undefiled religion. This question is too grave to be decided without mature deliberation. We therefore set it aside for the consideration of those upon whom the responsibility devolves; but we are well convinced that as an agent of evangelization the modern camp meeting needs to be supplemented by something that brings the gospel nearer to the people.

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE Centennial is a bad year for shams.

HON. MARSHALL JEWELL is to give two weeks in September to the advocacy of the Republican cause in Indiana.

THE Democrats had one State officer in North Carolina. He stole a big portion of the Peabody School Fund awarded the State.

"NEVER mind about income taxes in 1862," says the Nashville (Tenn.) American, which is very earnest for "Tilden and reform."

FROM this time on it is a stern chase for the Democracy. The campaign has become "aggressive," but not in the way Mr. Tilden expected.

ALLEN, Thurman and Pendleton are astonished when they read in Eastern Democratic papers that "Hayes has no record." Who was it that whipped us so confoundedly? they ask.

A REPUBLICAN triumph is to be won not by shouts and huzzas, but by steady, systematic, persevering work, and that work can be done thoroughly only through organized channels.—Troy Times (Rep.)

WHY is it that those high-toned Southern Democratic papers, that prate so much about their love of truth and hatred for falsehood, have no words of condemnation to utter against a self-convicted perjurer?

THE Democrats of New York got a candidate for Governor who does not want it, and a candidate for the Presidency whom they do not want. In the one case the candidate is sensible, in the other the party.

IT is solemnly announced that the reason no "campaign slanders" have been promulgated against Gov. Hayes is because the Democratic newspapers are too high-toned to stoop to such busines. Who would have suspected it?

THE Newburg Journal gives good advice when it urges county committees as well as the State committee, to begin the work of the campaign at once, especially by organizing clubs, holding meetings, and having speeches, if only from local speakers.

THE Cincinnati Times reviews the Congressional districts in Ohio, and finds the prospect a very bright one for the Republican party. If other Republican States do as well as Ohio is certain to do, it says, the next House will have a handsome Republican majority.

THERE is a live Democrat in Macon, Mo., who served under Gen. Hayes, and he bears this testimony: "I can't go back on Hayes; he is one of the noblest men I ever knew. He never would do a dishonorable thing. I do not know how I can reform better than by voting for him."

LEADING Democrats from West Virginia agree in admitting that their chances of carrying that State at the coming election are very slim. The Republicans are well organized with an extremely strong candidate for Governor, while the Democrats are divided and carry the weight of corruptions and defalcations proved against every State administration which they have elected since the war.

FROM the Nation of this week also comes the opinion that the revelations charging Mr. Tilden with having committed perjury to save paying his righteous income tax are not to be treated in the airy fashion with which certain indiscreet Democraic organs regard it. The Nation thinks that Mr. Tilden "ought to make a prompt and candid answer." But the facts of the case have been before the public for two weeks and Mr. Tilden has not been heard from yet.

IT is all well enough for the Democrats to protest against reviving "old war issues," but they should be careful lest they stir them up themselves. Such a paragraph as the following from The Mobile Register revives suspicions which the most magnanimous Republicans find it hard work to keep down: "The grave question to be settled at much cost is: What is to be done to get rid of the negro as a voter? Sooner or later, with more or less dispatch, he will be disfranchised and thrust out of politics. White men of all parties and of every grade of religious or moral conviction may as well come quickly to the consideration how to get the negro out of politics with the least confusion and cost. He must go, and there is no profit in standing long upon the order of his going. The question of suffrage belongs to the States respectively. When the organized Democracy of 1876 goes into office, each State shall be allowed to settle this and other social and domestic issues for itself and its own way, without any interference from the General Government. Then we can begin the work of resetting our shattered political and our demoralized social institutions upon correct foundations."

CHOOSING A POPE.

How the Work has Been Done and the Prospects for the Future.

For nearly a thousand years the Roman Pontiff was chosen by the suffrage of the civic magistrates, the people, and the clergy of Rome, in whom alone the elective franchise had become vested. It is true that their choice was not always a free one, the turbulent Barons of the Eternal City or the neighboring towns often dictating to the voters or corrupting them; and, from the beginning of the eleventh century, the Emperors of Germany seeking to control the election. It was doubtless with the view of destroying the influence of the Imperial party in future Papal elections that Hildebrand prevailed upon Nicholas II. to issue, in 1059, his memorable bull conferring the franchise upon the Cardinals exclusively, by whom it has ever been exercised. As more than three-fourths of the Sacred College are Italians, their choice is apt to fall on one of their countrymen; and, in point of fact, it is now more than three centuries since any other than an Italian has filled the Papal throne. The limitation of the suffrage to the wearers of the red hat has, however, been regarded by some Catholics with disfavor, and not long since a society was formed in Italy with the avowed purpose of "vindicating the rights of Christians generally, and the Romans particularly, in electing the next Pope." Only a few weeks since it was announced that Pius IX. regarded the members of this society as having incurred the greater excommunication, a peculiarly severe form of ecclesiastical censure reserved by the Pontiff for extreme emergencies. But the efforts of the innovators would seem, from a telegram received Friday from Rome, not to have been without influence of the Sacred College itself, for a convocation of Cardinals is now holding in Rome with the view of ascertaining the feasibility of introducing certain modifications in the system of election, so that the election may exercise full liberty when a successor to Pius IX. is to be chosen. Of course the Cardinals will always retain the franchise, and it will never be restricted again to the Roman community; but the agitation may bring about the choice of a Spaniard, an Austrian, or a Frenchman, at the new Papal election.

Death of an Eccentric Scholar.

The eccentric old scholar, Dr. James Henry, of Dublin, has just died. Dr. Henry has been a physician in his native city, and was never liked by his brother practitioners, owing to his skeptical views, which dislike finally culminated in intense horror when the cynical doctor declared that the opinion of no physician in the world was worth a guinea, and actually gave force to these heretical sentiments by refusing to take more than five shillings for his advice. Soon afterward he inherited a fortune, and henceforth devoted himself, aided by his wife and daughter, to an immense commentary on Virgil. For many years they wandered over the continent of Europe on foot and without luggage, intent on the comparison of the text of Virgil in the MSS. and old editions found in ancient libraries and out-of-the-way places. In a few years the trial was lessened by the death of Mrs. Henry, but still the old scholar and his devoted daughter continued their unwearied search. They came to know that all the men learned in their favorite subject, and all the librarians of the great libraries. Seventeen times they crossed the Alps on foot, sometime in deep snow, and more than once they were obliged to show the money they carried in abundance before they were received in the inn where they sought shelter from night and rain. Dr. Henry was a quaint looking personage clad in a Robinson Crusoe-like fur dress. His great commentary on Virgil is still in MS., with the exception of a few fragments which he gave to the world. Its extent may be imagined from the fact that the remarks on the first 36 lines of the "Æneid" fill 176 pages.

SERENADE IN M FLAT.

My Madeline—my Madeline!
  Mark my melodious midnight moans,
Much may my melting music mean,
  My modulated monotones.

My mandolin's mild minstrelsy,
  My mental music magazine,
My mouth, my mind, my memory,
  Must mingling murmur "Madeline."

Muster 'mid midnight masquerade,
  Mark Moorish maidens, matrons, mien,
'Mongst Murcia's most majestic maids,
  Match me my matchless Madeline.

Mankind's malevolence may make
  Much melancholy music mine,
Many my motives may mistake,
  My modest merits much malign.

My Madeline's most mirthful mood
  Much mollifies my mind's machine,
My mournfulness' magnitude,
  Melts—makes me merry, Madeline.

Match-making ma's may machinate,
  Manoeuvering misses me misween,
More money may make many mate,
  My magic motto's—"Madeline."

Melt most mellifluous melody,
  'Midst Murcia's misty mounts marine,
Meet me by moonlight—marry me,
  Madonna mia—Madeline.

TRUTH AHEAD OF FICTION.

First Class Material for a Sensational Novel.

Mr. Charles Reade, who is too honorable to steal plots, and too sensitive to newspaper criticism to renew his early practice of purchasing them, has let the world into the secret of his scrap-book system. The files of out-of-the-way American newspapers would give him many hints like this story which comes from Honesdale, Penn. Thirty years ago John Seitz, a German clerk in a New York store, was engaged to a young girl named Katherine Rief. The California gold fever broke out, and he joined a party of adventurers. The first letter that he received from home bore the tidings that his sweetheart was soon to become the mother of his child. He pledged himself to return as soon as possible and marry her. She went to Honesdale to live with her brother, and to wait for her lover's return. Two or three letters came, and then there was silence for years. A young blacksmith named Wendt professed great love for her, and after putting him off for four or five years she accepted him, fully convinced that her gold hunter was dead. She took her child to New York and lived with her husband. He was a brute. He abused her, neglected her, and threw her into consumption. Meanwhile Seitz, instead of writing letters or dying, had made an enormous fortune, and returned to Honesdale after his sweetheart and child. The news of her marriage stunned him. He went to New York and found her dying in a tenement, with no one near her but her baby—his child. Seitz buried her in Greenwood, and a week afterward Wendt, overcome with remorse, shot himself over her grave. The child was left in Honesdale with her brother's family, and his father returned to San Francisco, where he married, built a fine house, with an elegant apartment known as "Johnny's room," and provided liberally for the boy in his will. "Johnny" was a frail lad, with his mother's consumptive tendencies. He never occupied that palatial room; he died a week ago Tuesday, as rich as a prince. But he did not know of his good-fortune, for the father died in San Francisco barely an hour before the son's death. The boy's inheritance goes to his aunt.

FINANCIAL.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 4, 1876.

A week of general financial ease and quiet has passed. Two exceptional circumstances only have occurred,—the run on the Allegheny Savings Bank, which has happily ended, and the continued excitement in oil being the disturbing elements. The activity in oil still continues, and the promise is that it will yet make up other interests and possibly restore activity to general trade. The banks are accumulating funds, and have no special demand for them as yet. The fall trade is looked for with great interest and the revival of business so long looked for, will then be fully expected.

A NICE QUESTION.

In selling a second-hand safe a bond was left in one of the drawers, and being subsequently discovered the purchaser of the safe attempted the collection of the bond, notwithstanding its identity as belonging to the loser could be proven. In response to an inquiry as to what steps can be taken to recover it, and also if the man is liable to be punished for attempting to sell it, the Journal of Commerce replies that "there is a very common mistake in regard to the obligation of one who finds, or discovers, lost property. 'If the finder in any way knows the owner, or if there be any mark on the goods by which the owner can be ascertained, the taking will be felonious.' The finder of the above described bond, if he had reason to know who was it owner, can be arrested for constructive larceny. At any rate, he has placed himself in a very uncomfortable position, and can be held responsible for its full value."

ONE HUNDRED POUNDS OF GOLD.

The stage which arrived from Deadwood Thursday night was loaded with passengers, who brought with them over 100 pounds of gold dust. Fifty pounds of this lot is now deposited in the First National Bank, and the bulk of the remaining 50 pounds is either on its way East in the possession of the fortunate owners who washed and brought it out, or is being carried about the city. This is the largest shipment yet made through this city with one exception. About four weeks ago a seedy individual arrived on the coach, having in his possession a dilapidated carpet sack, in which, as we have since learned, was stored $103,000 in gold. He passed on East, and has not been heard from since.—Cheyenne Leader.

THE INTEREST ON SAVINGS.

The reduction in the rate of interest on demand loans by the Massachusetts country savings banks is causing a great deal of discussion in Springfield, and a strong pressure is being brought to bear to effect a similar reduction here. The banks admit their inability to reduce to 6½ per cent., but profess to consider so small a concession not worth making at present. A strong effort will be made to induce the next Legislature to reduce the State tax on savings banks from ¾ to ½ per cent.—the rate of taxation before the war. If this is done, the banks profess their willingness to come down to 6 per cent. on real estate loans.

NEW YORK, September 2, 1876.

The syndicate report increasing subscriptions to the new 4½ per cent. loan, some large amounts having been taken to-day by banks and insurance companies. The cable reports from the other side liberal subscriptions at London, including a number from the continent. Money closed easy at 1½@2; prime mercantile paper 3@4. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $317,000. The clearings were $30,000,000. Sterling was quiet at 486@488. Gold opened at 109⅛ and closed at 109 5-8, the two extremes of the day. The carrying rate ranged from ½ to 3 per cent. Loans were also made flat.

The following is the bank statement:

Loans, increase,	$1,380,100
Specie, increase,	1,195,700
Legal tenders, increase,	841,600
Deposits, increase,	2,050,100

Reserve, increase,	1,524,775

Governments were dull and steady. Railroad bonds were quiet this afternoon. Union Pacific firsts 106⅞, Michigan Southern Sinking fund 110, and Erie third 100¼, the last named ex interest. Ohio & Northwest consolidated gold coupons are firm at 93a93½. Lehigh & Wilkesbarre consolidated advanced from 67 sales to 70 bid. State bonds were quiet and nominal. The stock market opened heavier and lower, the greatest decline being in coal shares, caused mainly by the rumored embarrassment of one company and the reported unsettled condition of affairs in the mining regions. New Jersey Central broke from 39½ to 35⅜, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western from 84 to 81½, and Delaware & Hudson Canal from 84 to 82. In the general list Illinois Central fell off from 89½ to 88, and Michigan Central from 39¼ to 38⅜. Lake Shore opened at 52, a decline of about 1 per cent., but afterwards recovered to 52½. St. Paul common fell off from 30⅝ to 29⅞, preferred from 65 3-4 to 65 1-2, Ohios from 11 to 10 5-8, Erie from 9⅞ to 9 1-2, and Western Union from 70 to 69 5-8. Later the market became quiet, with an advance in coal stocks. In the closing hours stocks were irregular. New Jersey Central declined to 35, Delaware & Hudson Canal to 81 1-8, and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western to 82. Rock Island advanced to 104 3-4, and closed at 104 1-2. St. Paul preferred, after rising to 66¼, reacted to 65 1-2. Lake Shore was firm at 52 3-4@52½, and Western Union at 69 3-4@69⅞. The remainder of the list was quiet and without feature. The market closed active, unsettled and feverish. The transactions at the Stock Exchange aggregated 116,000 shares, of which 10,750 were Erie, 15,400 Lake Shore, 4,200 Rock Island, 6,400 St. Pauls, 5,200 Western Union, 24,300 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, 35,300 New Jersey Central, and 8,000 Michigan Central.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, September 2, 1876.

General business continues quiet, and the leading articles of merchandise present but little worthy of special mention. Values unchanged.

APPLES—The supply in hands of commission merchants is small and there is more inquiry, but no improvement in prices, which may be quoted at $1a1,50 ₱ bbl for fair to choice.

BROOM CORN—No. 1 hurl, 8½a9; No. 2 do, 7a7½; choice brush that will work up, 6½a6¾; do. covers, 6a6¼; do. covers and insiding, 5½; inferior 4½a5; crocked, 3½a4.

BERRIES—Are about out of season; we continue to quote at 50a75c per bucket.

BUTTER—There is no falling off in the demand for fine table Butter, but common grades continue dull; the supply of the former is light, while of the latter it is accumulating: prime to choice solid packed, in firkins and tubs, 21a23c; do roll, 24a25; creamery, 28a30c.

CHEESE—Unchanged: prime Ohio Factory, July make, 8a8½c to the trade, and 9a9½c in a jobbing way.

EGGS—The recent advance has stimulated shipments, and with increased receipts, the market is possibly a shade easier, although prices are still maintained; we continue to quote at 15a16c.

FLOUR—Business continues rather quiet, although about all that can reasonably be expected. There is a fair demand for well known brands, but unknown brands are hard to move unless offered at very low prices.

Red winter wheat flours	$5,00a6,50 ₱ bbl.
Amber wheat flours	7,00a7,50 "
Spring wheat flours	5,75a6,25 "
Patent process and fancy white wheat	8,00a9,00 "
Rye flour	4,50a4,75 "

GROCERIES—The Grocery business continues quiet, and presents nothing particularly new or important; there has been no change in values for several days. Our latest advices from New York at this writing report Sugar steady and Coffee quiet.

GRAIN—There is a continued fair milling demand for Wheat, but no change in prices; No. 1 red winter at $1,10a1,12½; and No. 1 amber at 1,15a18. Some well informed operators predict there will not be much change either way for some time to come. The Oat market continues firm with a light supply and considerable inquiry, but prices are not quotably higher; new, 32a33; old, 34a35. Ear Corn continues quiet and unchanged, and the same is true of Shelled; quotable at 50a54c on track. Rye also quiet and unchanged; sale of one car reported at 60c.

HAY—New crop, loose, from country wagons, $9a14, according to quality. Baled cannot be laid down here to afford a margin for profit, hence the market is bare, but there is little or no demand.

OILS—Extra No. 1 winter lard oil, 90c; No. 1, do, 80c; No. 2, 70; white Miners oil, 60; yellow, 57; summer oils dull and lower as holders are anxious to reduce stocks and if possible close out. Linseed oil is quoted at 53 for raw and 58 for boiled. Carbon has advanced 5a6c ₱ gallon within the past week, and we now quote at 22a22½c.

ONIONS—Continue dull, but nominally unchanged: $1,50a2 ₱ bbl, as to quality.

POTATOES—Irish quoted at $1,75a2 ₱ bbl. Sweets, $3 50a4 per bbl for Baltimore, and $4,50a5 for Jerseys.

PROVISIONS—The reports from the west, yesterday (Friday), were more reassuring, with the exception of Lard, which was as dull and weak as ever. A Chicago paper of Friday says: "Hogs were weak and lower, under a larger supply, and holders of product seemed to be wearied over the prospect of carrying the property further, and sold out freely. One prominent operator who had bought largely of year pork, closed out the whole lot yesterday at an average loss (as stated) of $3,50 ₱ bbl. The shorts filled in willingly, and after 12 o'clock there was some disposition to invest at the decline by parties who thought a reaction in prices to be more than probable, even though the advance should not be maintained. The trading was almost entirely for future delivery."

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, September 2, 1876.

ARRIVALS.

Following shows the aggregate receipts for the week, as well as those of preceding week also:

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	413 cars.	422 cars.
Hogs	96 "	87 "
Sheep	68 "	109 "
Total	577 "	618 "

Of the 413 cars reported for the past week, 209 cars were through and 205 cars local, against 237 cars of through, and 185 cars of local last week. Sales, 3,379 head; last week, 3,155 head.

CATTLE.

The most important event of the past week was the increased arrivals, both of through consignments and local cattle, especially the latter, but with an increased demand, the attendance of buyers being quite large, the market was active; the best evidence of the latter is that notwithstanding the supply was above an average it was not in excess of the demand. So far as we could learn, there were none shipped on in first hands, and some salesmen reported that a still larger number than was on sale could have been disposed of. It is but proper to state in this connection, however, that prices ruled from 10a15c per cwt lower; strictly No. 1 shipping cattle did not recede much from last week's prices, but common and medium grades fell off to the extent stated, as the supply was heavy, it was the low prices that induced buyers to buy so freely. The number bought for shipment to Philadelphia and New York was larger than usual, and country dealers and butchers also bought pretty freely, and the market closed firmer than it opened, as, in addition to the yards being cleared, the reports from New York were more favorable.

QUOTATIONS.

Prime 1,400a1,500 steers	5,00a5,25
Good 1,300a1,400 steers	4.50a4,75
Fair 1,000a1,100 steers	4,00a4,25
Stockers, 800a900 lbs	3,25a3,75
Bulls, Cows and Stags	2,50a3,25
Texans	2,50a3,60

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The arrivals were considerably below those of last week, and there was no improvement in quality, the great proportion of the offerings, as has been the case for some time past, consisted of common and medium grades, and while these did not bring any better prices than those obtained for the same kind last week, good fat stock, especially during the latter part of the week, sold readily at an advance of 20a25c ₱ cwt. As stated in a former report, it looks as if growers were pushing off their common and holding back their best sheep, being anxious to get clear of the former before the winter sets in and hopeful of obtaining better prices after a while for the latter. Stock Ewes were reported dull this week, and we reduce our quotations 25c per head. Lambs were also dull, especially the common grades, and there were very few, if any, good ones on sales.

QUOTATIONS.

Extra 95a100 lbs	5,00a5,25
Good 85a90 lbs	4,60a4,75
Good 75a80 lbs	4,25a4,50

Common 70a75 lbs	3,00a3,50
Stock Ewes, ₱ head	$1,75a2,75
Lambs, 40a60 lbs	3,50a5,00

HOGS.

The fluctuation in prices this week has been comparatively light, as the supply was just about equal to the demand, and the market in a general way presents but little that is important, excepting that there was an easier feeling to-day in consequence of the continued decline at Chicago. As stated in our report of Thursday, the quality is improving: not so many grassers and more corn hogs coming forward, and it is scarcely necessary to add that the latter are selling much more readily than the former, as they always do.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Sept. 2, 1876.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

It was intimated in our last general report that the advance had been too rapid to be permanent, and, therefore, that a reaction was not improbable; subsequent events have demonstrated that our apprehensions were not out of place. Business has been dull and unsettled all week, and about the only cause that can be assigned is the one to which reference has been made, a feeling of distrust on the part of buyers, who were apprehensive that both the raw article and the product had been unduly inflated. The general outlook, however, continues favorable for the selling interest, and just as soon as the market becomes a little more settled, we look for an increased business, and a still further appreciation in values is not improbable.

The consumption of the raw article continues largely in excess of the production, (estimated at about ten thousand barrels per day, and with a steady reduction in the visible supply, as well as every indication that the consumption will continue large during the remainder of the year, there is no reason apparent why there should be any depreciation, and it is not likely that there will be unless some new territory is opened up. It is true, refiners generally have been buying sparingly since the advance, being apprehensive that the rise could not be maintained; and then short sellers have been doing all they could to depress the market, but just as soon as consumers become better satisfied, in regard to the stability of the market, we may look for an increased legitimate demand, and, a still further advance in prices.

Business in Refined has also been comparatively quiet during the week under review, exporters, like the refiners, were apprehensive that the rise had been to rapid to be permanent, hence they were disposed, for a time to hold off in order to ascertain whether their apprehensions were well grounded or not. There was a firmer feeling developed yesterday, under the influence of the advices from the seaboard and Antwerp as well, an advance of 2a3 francs being reported at the latter point, and the general outlook at the present writing points to a firmer and more active market, as in addition to stocks in Europe being comparatively light, the home trade will buy largely during the next two or three months.

CRUDE.

The market was firmer to-day again, and while there was an absence of excitement, the tendency was upward and the feeling seemed to prevail that prices will go still higher; United certificates quoted at $3,81¼ and immediate shipment at $3,92½a3,95.

REFINED.

Was also reported firmer, but there was such a wide difference between buyers and sellers that it is difficult to give quotations. The asking price in New York was 26c, but small outside sales were reported from 1a2c less. Price to home trade, 22c.

OIL BARRELS.

There has been a fair trade during the past week, but no improvement in prices; $1,30 for countries, and $1,45a1,50 for city make, as to size. Sellers are afraid to put prices above quoted rates lest it might stimulate shipments from Cleveland and elsewhere.

THE WOOL TRADE.

New York.

We find little or no change on the general position of the market for domestic wools. Some little irregularity has been shown on the demand during the week, but the aggregate business foots up pretty large, and full former rates were obtained without much apparent difficulty. Indeed, the position is evidently a firm one, and the advantage tends more to the side of sellers than buyers, with here and there an extra fine lot of goods held a trifle higher than anything as yet obtained. As a rule, however, the policy of holders is against the withdrawal of stocks when a strictly full market rate is bid, as most of the supplies on hand now will pay a fair profit, and the experience of the past year has demonstrated the safety of securing clear margins rather than holding back for doubtful additions. The accumulations on hand are small and pretty well under control, with not many important additions expected for some time to come. The business of the week has been general, including a fair proportion of fleeces, also considerable quantities of Texas and spring California. There is a rumor on the market of the failure of a large manufacturing concern, which causes some little uneasiness. Foreign wools have been only moderately active, and show no special features, the clothing grades still failing to find a market with a margin at ruling rates. Sales reported for the week embrace: 12,000 lbs washed combing at 47c; 3,000 lbs do, 47c; 10,000 lbs X Ohio at 38c; 20,000 lbs X do, 50,000 lbs XX do, 25,000 lbs XX do, 35,000 lbs XX and XXX do, 6,000 lbs No. 1 Ohio, 25,000 lbs unwashed fleeces, 3,000 lbs unwashed medium, on private terms; 28,000 lbs unwashed Western, 24@25c; 3,000 lbs unwashed Wisconsin, 25c; 4,000 lbs unwashed Indiana, 32c; 100,000 lbs State fleeces, X and above, 33 1-3c; 50 bags short extra, 10 bags ext a pulled, 25 bags do, 35 bags fine lambs', on private terms; 40,000 lbs Texas 25c; 120,000 lbs do, 16@22c; 25,000 lbs do, 19½c; 115,000 lbs do, 18@21c for Western, 17@26c for Eastern; 25,000 lbs scoured Texas, part 51c; 75,000 lbs Texas, 21,000 Western do, 15,000 Eastern do, 4,000 lbs burry do on private terms; 275,000 lbs spring California, 17@24c; 35,000 lbs do, 22c; 32,000 lbs do, 20@23c; 20,000 lbs do 20@22c; 20 bales do, 18@20c; 50,000 lbs fall California (old), 4,000 lbs Utah, on private terms; 10,000 lbs Colorado, 18c; 2,000 lbs Georgia, 26c; 1,000 lbs do, 5,000 lbs Virginia, 15 bales Cape, 5,000 lbs Australian and about 500 bales Mediterranean on private terms.—Bulletin.

Philadelphia.

Wool continues in fair demand and prices are well maintained. The supply continues light, as less wool has arrived this season in Philadelphia than usual. Boston.

[By Telegraph.]

BOSTON, September 2.—The demand for all kinds of domestic wool continues quite active, and the sales have been large. Fleeces are still sought after, but sales have been restricted on account of the firmness of holders. The sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania were 413,000 pounds; choice XX Pennsylvania 43½@44c; No. 1 and X 37@40c. The sales of Michigan and Wisconsin are quite trifling; holders are firm; medium and X 33@35c; Wisconsin and Western 28@35c. Combing and delaine is in demand at 39@45c for delaine and 45@50c for combing. Very little desirable combing is to be had under 50c. Pulled wools: sales 122 000 pounds; some small lots very choice Maine super 42@43c; principal sales 35@38c for super and X.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE Potomac went to Fulton to lay up.

THE Hudson has been laid up at Cincinnati.

THE Whale has 1,200 tons ore for Pittsburgh.

CAPT. CHAS. DAVID is ill with fever, at Madison.

THE Arlington is loading at Cincinnati for New Orleans.

UNCLE TOM is the name of Evansville's new harbor boat.

THE David Sinton left Cincinnati on Friday for Wheeling.

THE snagboat E. A. Woodruff is at work at Raccoon.

THE Tom Means left St Louis for Ashland with 3 barges iron ore, Tuesday.

MR. JAS. MCCAIN, a well-known engineer, and a resident of Memphis, died on Wednesday.

THE Jno. L. Rhoads was aground all day Friday opposite Evansville, and was still sticking at this writing.

THOS. SATTERWHITE is freight solicitor in the U. S. Mail Line at Louisville, vice B. H. Russell, resigned.

CAPT. C. L. BRENNAN, of the Fontenelle, has arrived home from St. Louis. His boat is laid up at St. Louis.

THE names of the gentlemen selected to represent Pittsburgh in the Baltimore Convention will be found elsewhere.

MEAD C. JOHNSTON, a rouster on the steamer United States, died in the Marine Hospital, at Louisville, last month.

THE Granite State, Exchange, and Emma Graham, have been placed in the Cincinnati and Big Sandy trade as low-water packets.

THE Exchange was aground at Eight mile, Thursday night; the Salt Valley went to her relief on Friday, but did not succeed in getting her off.

NAVIGATION continues suspended, and the prospects for an early resumption are not very encouraging at this writing. Weather clear and pleasant.

MR. SID HUMPHREYS, of the Evansville Packet Co., has never recovered fully from the effects of the shake-up he received by the explosion of the Pat. Cleburne, and has gone to the Hot Springs of Arkansas in the hope that the water and free air will help him to regain his strength.

THE 18th section of the revised steamboat law will inform all licensed steamboat officers that it is required of them to frame their papers under glass and hang them in a conspicuous place on the boat. The penalty for violation is $100 fine or revocation of license. A case of this kind now awaits the action of the grand jury. Hence it would be well for boatmen to act in accordance with the full spirit of the law.

THE War Eagle, which left St. Louis for Keokuk Tuesday evening, made the run to Alton, a distance of 26 miles, in 1 hour and 50 minutes. The best time on record was made by the Altoona a number of years ago, and was one hour and 37 minutes. The present low stage of water makes it necessary for a boat to run five miles farther than when the Altoona ran it, and it is generally conceded that the War Eagle will win the championship whenever she undertakes it.

THREE steamers were to leave New Orleans last week on the same day for the Ohio, and rates ruthlessly cut from 20 cents. The Picayune says: It was alleged that the steamers Arlington and Cherokee put the rate at 12½c, and Capt. Carter, of the Schenck, made it 10c, at which figure, we believe, it stood up to their departure. As there is no other Cincinnati packet in sight for this week, the Golden Rule, now on her way to this port, will have it all her own way next week.

MESSRS. FORD AND ROGERS, Assistant Local Inspectors for the District of Gallipolis, Ohio, for the week ending August 26th, 1876, inspected the steam ferryboat Enterprise, of Portland, O. Test pressure, 170 pounds to the square inch; steam pressure allowed, 80 pounds. They also issued the following licenses: Earnest J. Jones, of steamer Wall City, captain and first-class pilot; Jno. C. Wilson, of steamer Modoc, Charleston, W. Va., second engineer; Jas. T. Halliday, of steamer Frank Willard, Gallipolis, second engineer.

THE tide of travel is again turned toward the river. People have become tired of dusty, noisy and bad-smelling cars, and are willing to sacrifice a few hours of time that might be gained by rail to the home comforts of well appointed steamers. Indeed, we know of cases were travelers have gone 50 miles out of their direct line that they might enjoy 260 miles of steamboat comfort. Within our observation there has not been so gene al a disposition to travel by river as now, and steamers' cabins have not been so well filled with passengers as during this Centennial year. It will continue. As business becomes more prosperous and money becomes more plentiful, people will seek comfort and travel by river.—Cin. Gazette.

A St. Louis special to the Cincinnati Commercial, under date of Friday, says: Business is improving, and offerings for the Ohio are looking up. Iron ore is plentiful. The Mary Miller left for Cincinnati with 2,800 barrels flour and 1,700 sacks shipstuff and feed. Capt. Wm. Braithwaite came down from Yankton this morning, and reports plenty of business from Sioux City up, but rates are too low for profit. Captain John Todd is building a set of ways at Yankton. The General Mead leaves Yankton on the 6th inst. for Fort Pierre, on her third trip in the trade. Capt. James Good, of the Barge Line, has been presented with a $250 watch and chain by Capt. T. C. Walker, of California. They were schoolmates together, and renewed their acquaintance here last fall. Capt. Tom Shields, of the Commonwealth, leaves for the Centennial to-morrow.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞PROFESSIONAL NOTICE.

Drs. Jordan and Davieson

Principals of the Institution of Anatomy, 807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Lecturers on Anatomy, Physiology and Science, inform their friends and patients that they have again opened a branch office for the practice of their profession at No. 2 EIGHTH STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., where one of the firm may be confidentially consulted, more especially in all those cases of diseases and debility, for the treatment of which they are so justly celebrated. It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential. d&S

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

This popular theater which, for three months, has been closed to the public, and which during that time, has undergone very great improvement, and general renovation, will be opened by the Aiken Combination in the sensational and just now apropos play entitled "The Molly Maguires." The location of the drama is in the eastern coal region of Pennsylvania. The subject affords plenty of legitimate scope for a skillfull play-wright to construct from it a truthful and entertaining dramatic sketch, and whether Mr. Aiken has succeeded in doing so the public can ascertain to-night. In addition to Mr. Aiken, the company includes a number of well known variety artists.

Trimble's Varieties.

The management of this theater, the only place of variety entertainment that ever proved a success in Pittsburgh, and which has out-lived almost a host of more pretentious competers, will, during the season now commencing, be in the hands of Mr. John Trimble, assisted by George W. Herman as stage manager. It opens to-night with a company embracing Baby Bindley, the infant prodigy, Madam Lavante, the fire queen, Nelly Peris, Mlle. Octavia, the Larne family, gymnasts, the Parkers, character artists, Reynols and Mara, the musical mokes, and others.

ANN SULLIVAN brought before Judge Kirkpatrick from the Work House on a writ of habeas corpus was discharged. She was committed by Mayor McCarthy on a charge of vagrancy.

WRITS of habeas corpus and certiorari were granted by Judge Collier, on Saturday, in the case of J. J. Curtis committed to the Work House on a charge of vagrancy. The writs were made returnable Saturday. Similar writs were granted in the case Margaret Neill committed by the same magistrate on a charge of disorderly conduct. Returnable Wednesday.

MESSRS. WEIR & GIBSON, attorneys for A. J. Montgomery, presented a bill in equity in Common Pleas No. 1, Saturday, against John Trimble, Randolph Gardner and Margaret Trimble. The bill sets forth that John Trimble, executor of the estate of Benj. Trimble, deceased, leased to the other defendants the property known as "Trimble's Varieties;" they leased the same to Fred Aims, from whom the relator leased the stables connected with said property; that Aims was in arrears with his rent to Gardner and Trimble, and they were in arrears to John Trimble. That by special agreement that he was not to be disturbed in the possession of his lease until it expired, he consented to pay the sum of six hundred dollars in advance to Aims, from which he (Aims) paid the amount due to Gardner and Trimble, and they the amount due to John Trimble. That notwithstanding this agreement to which the defendants were parties, they have since brought suit against Aims, obtaining a judgment. An injunction is asked to restrain the constable from including the stables in his execution of the writ issued by the alderman.

THE CLOSING SERVICES.

Concluding Exercises Yesterday at Patterson's Grove—Over Eight Thousand People on the Ground—Progress of the Meeting at Hollow Rock.

The propitious aspect of the weather yesterday attracted multitudes of people to the various camp meetings in the vicinity of the city. The Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston and Baltimore & Ohio railroads did a heavy business in transporting passengers to Patterson's Grove. Trains of ten and eleven cars passed over both roads, crowded with people bound for the tented tabernacle. A line of steamboats also plied to the landing at Cochrans Station, loaded with grangers and villagers from up the river. The occasion was unmarred by a single accident, or disagreeable incident, and the utmost decorum was observed in the thronged grounds during the day. The trip from the city on the P., V. & C. and Baltimore & Ohio lines is replete in agreeable incident and diversified sight-seeing. The management of both roads won golden opinions yesterday for their ample provision for the comfort, safety and accommodation of passengers. The religious services at the Monongahela camp meeting were of an unusually interesting and impressive character. They opened with family prayer at eight o'clock A. M., conducted by Rev. J. W. Baker. Following was a general speaking meeting at the stand, which was opened by Dr. Endsley, presiding elder of the south-east district. At the ten o'clock service Rev. Lynch, of Monongahela City, preached an able apostolical discourse from the text contained in Psalm 624.

A noteworthy feature of the meeting was the singing. Numbers of fine choristers were in attendance, and the singing was led by an improvised choir, whose splendid execution gave wonderful effect to the spiritual songs. Accompaniments were played on the organ by those excellent musicians, Messrs. Hamilton and Horner. At the afternoon service, which was held at two o'clock, the immense auditorium was filled with a vast assemblage, estimated at eight thousand people. From the stand it had the appearance of a perfect sea of upturned faces. Dr. Watkins, of McKeesport, preached a powerful sermon from the text found in Phillipians, 3d chapter and 13th verse. He held his hearers in wrapt attention. The following selections were rendered by the choir with stirring effect: "Gates Ajar," "Hold the Fort," "The storm will soon be over," and "Over There." During the singing a young lad rendered, as a solo, with much sweetness and great effect, the exquisite melody, "If papa were only ready." After a slight intermission Dr. Endsley delivered an earnest and moving exhortation.

The following ministers were in attendance: Revs. Lynch, Watkins, Endsley, Westlake (Elizabeth), Wilkinson (Braddock's), Coulter (Walton), J. W. Baker (Bingham street, South Side), and C. Miller.

There were in attendance yesterday about nine thousand people. The results of this meeting, which closed finally yesterday, have been very satisfactory and encouraging. There were about thirty conversions in all. Credit is due the Monongahela Valley camp organization for the energy, enterprise, and zeal displayed in its work. Twenty days from the inception of the undertaking have witnessed the sale of one hundred and twenty-five lots, the erection of thirty-five cottages, the seating of the auditorium, and the improvement and enclosing of the grounds. It is calculated that by next season the lots will all be sold and built upon. It is designed to conduct the water of the springs through the grounds by means of pipes, which will furnish the necessary supply of the fluid.

Services at Hollow Rock.

HOLLOW ROCK CAMP MEETING,
September 1st, 1876.

The sermon this morning was preached at ten o'clock by Rev. McCleary. All who have heard him know his sermons are of the highest order and hard to be excelled. This was a counterpart of his former work. The noon prayer meeting was well attended and, as usual, interesting. There was not perhaps as much fervor as on some other occasions, but fully as much real benefit was derived. The interest at the Young People's Tabernacle was very much increased to-day. The seats were well filled and the deep and solemn interest shown by the worshippers constituted a scene that was grand and glorious. Without any ostentation or noisy shouting it was a picture of devout holiness. At this tent there is no pressing the claims of the sanctified, but a simple and urgent appeal is made to the better natures of the auditors. Miss Boyd, a hard working, earnest, honest laborer in the vineyard is engaged in the good work and seems to be the right woman in the right place. The work in the Young Folk's Tabernacle, where the most real good seems to be accomplished, is being done by all denominatrons. Miss May, of Waynesburg, Ohio, is among the ardent workers, and seems to be consecrating her life to the great, high calling, if action is evidence. She is certainly a success.

The recent ministerial arrivals are Revs. Bedall, Pheam, Dyer, Cooper, Haltz and Stewart.

The afternoon services was conducted by Rev. Haltz, who handled his subject in very good style, but did not have so large an audience nor hold it so well as many who have preceeded him in years gone by.

H.

September 2, 1876.

The attendance this afternoon is the largest of any day yet. Carriages, omnibusses, farm wagons, buggies, &c., are arriving to make their stay over Sunday, and tent-makers and holders are still busy at getting ready for to-morrow's great work.

Hard times seem to have but little effect here, for fashion and folly are fully represented. The city belle is vieing to outdo her country cousin, and the gilt-edged, fine-haired dandy from the city is not a whit ahead of the hard-fisted plough-boy.

Morning prayer and experience meetings were well attended, and the watchword seems to be upward and onward.

Rev. Thorburn, a returned missionary, occupied the pulpit this morning at 10 o'clock, and gave good evidence that he understood his subject well and kept it well in hand. At the close of morning service a celebrated female revivalist occupied the stand a few minutes and poured forth a torrent of pathos and well-digested thought, that was evidence of the heartfelt interest she takes in the good cause.

The noon prayer meeting was well attended and those taking part in it seemed to be in deep earnest in the cause.

The one o'clock meeting at the young folks' tabernacle was better attended than usual, and the interest was unprecedented, and the good work being carried on there, conducted by Rev. Hudson, is of the highest order. There is no sham, no excitement, no shouts, the entire service is a rational individualizing of every day Christian worship, and is as expressed by Rev. Hudson, a Methodist meeting.

Ministerial arrivals since last report are J. M. Thorburn, D. D., of India, J. R. Mills, D. D., Steubenville, Rev. J. Shearer, Wellsburg, W. Va., Rev. F. A. Brown, Sloans, Ohio.

Two o'clock—afternoon service by J. R. Mills, D. D. Dr. Mills is too well known in your city to require any notice from me. Enough to say it was one of his masterly efforts to a large and appreciative audience.

Prime Groceries.

The attention of retail dealers is called to the card elsewhere published of Messrs. J. T. Colvin & Co., wholesale grocers, No. 32 Wood street, whose establishment is sound to the core, and where first class groceries in great variety, await the patronage of the retailer. So many houses in this line of business are here to-day and away to-morrow, that the purchaser first asks—is it reliable? We are enabled in all truthfulness to answer this question in the affirmative as regards the Messrs. Colvin & Co., as their word is known to be equal to a bond, and their means being ample, they offer not only quality of stability and reliability, but the further inducement of lowest cash prices with accommodating terms to their patrons. With an abundant cash capital they are not compelled to deal with parties who will dictate terms and prices, but they command quality and prices, and thus their goods are nothing less than the very best, and obtained at lower rates than could be expected by the purchaser on time, all of which are elements of their trade eventuating to the advantage of those to whom they sell. Teas and tobacco receive especial attention and parties would make it pay to buy these articles alone from them, yet where all goods are of prime excellence the inducements to purchase are doubly augmented. Give the Messrs. Colvin & Co. a call.

THE EXPOSITION.

Notes About the Big Building on Saturday.

Owing to the high wind on Saturday afternoon no balloon ascension was made by Prof. Gilbert, but if the conditions to-day are auspicious he will once again make an aerial flight this afternoon. Miss Ella De Knight, of the Lawrenceville school, was to have accompanied him on Saturday, but as school commences to-day she will perhaps not have the opportunity again.

Superintendent Orr reports steady additions to the general display, most of the new exhibitors locating in the balcony.

Among the articles which came in lately, are a self-feeding nail machine from Youngstown, Ohio; some live specimens from the Castle Shannon Zoological Garden; a five hundred dollar dress by one of our city merchants, &c. Floral Hall and the Art Gallery continue to be the most attractive features. A photograph of the former was taken on Friday afternoon.

Aside from the North German wedding, which is announced to take place next Friday evening at eight o'clock, the Tennesseans are announced for the 12th and 13th insts. Prof. S. B. Mills, a New York pianist, is engaged to give a concert about the middle of the month. This will take place in the Main Hall, near the stairs leading to the Art Gallery.

RAILWAY CASUALTIES.

A Broken Axle Causes a Triple Accident—One Man Killed and a Number Injured.

BALTIMORE, September 3.—By the breaking of an axle of a coal hopper at Weaverton, Hagerstown junction, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, a short distance from Harper's Ferry, this morning, several cars were thrown off the track, and before the flagman could be sent back a second train of coal hoppers dashed into the first, wrecking the engine of the second train and several cars, besides throwing two of them directly across the other track. A few minutes later the west mail train due at Baltimore at 9 A. M. came around the short curve and ploughed through a portion of the wreck. When striking a coal hopper it ran off the track, down an embankment, into the canal. The wildest excitement and confusion prevailed among the passengers, but it was soon ascertained that none of the passengers were seriously injured. Joshua H. Shipley, engineer, an hour later was found in five feet of water, wedged in the cab, with both hands grasping the throttle of the locomotive. He was drowned. Stephen J. Reynolds, fireman, was badly bruised and scalded. He states than on rounding the curve Shipley discovered the wreck, exclaiming "Oh! my God." The tracks were torn up for some distance, but were speedily replaced, and the passengers arrived in Baltimore this afternoon. Train hands state that there was not time after the first accident to flag the western train. It is said Clifton Robey, a drover, had his left eye put out by a piece of glass. Baggage Master Martin had his right ankle sprained. W. Delroache, express messenger, was badly cut about the face and shoulders by broken glass. The United States Mail Clerks, Rittenhouse and Waite, were also slightly bruised. All the mail bags were secured, thoroughly saturated, but some letter cases floated down the canal, and may be recovered at the locks.

A RASCALLY INDIAN AGENT.

He Holds a Secret Interview with a Hostile Chief and Furnishes Him with Beef Cattle.

WASHINGTON, September 2.—The following dispatch has been received by Gen. Sherman from Gen. Sheridan in Chicago:

"Col. Carlin telegraphed that he was obliged to suspend Agent Burke, at Standing Rock, who, it is believed, had a secret interview with Kill Eagle, one of the hostile chiefs, who subsequently issued two hundred and fifty head of cattle, most of which is believed to have gone to hostile camps. We do not want to do anything which would be unpleasant in any way to the Secretary of the Interior or Commissioner of Indian Affairs, but I really think it would be best for all concerned that army officers should perform the duties at the agencies until this trouble is over. Col. Carlin put Capt. R. E. Johnston in charge of the agency at Standing Rock until a new agent arrives."

Gen. Sherman sent the following to Gen. Sheridan:

"The Secretary of War is back, and I have also seen Mr. Chandler, Secretary of the Interior, who says another agent has been appointed for Standing Rock agency, who will soon be there, but in the meantime you may instruct Gen. Carlin he must control all issues from the agency to Indians and permit no issues of any kind he does not approve, specially to Indians not actually present, known to be friendly and faithful."

The most friendly feeling and hearty cooperation exists between the War and Interior Departments upon these points, and whatever measures are thought best will be carried out jointly by both the departments. Edwin Mallett was appointed yesterday as agent at Standing Rock, but as some difficulty has arisen in relation to his bond, another person will be appointed as soon as selected by the Board of Indian Commissioners.

GOV. HENDRICKS' SPEECH.

He Opens the Campaign in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 2.—Shelbyville held a Democratic meeting to-day, probably the largest held by the party in the State during this campaign. It is estimated that from 10,000 to 12,000 persons were present. Gov. Hendricks was received with great enthusiasm and manifestations of welcome to his native county. Upon being introduced he made an address, in which he dwelt upon official corruption, civil service reform, hard times, and predicted prosperity, purity and happiness for the country if the Democracy were elected to power.

Hon. George J. Headley and others also made speeches.

TERRIFIC BOILER EXPLOSION.

Three Men Killed and One Injured.

CHICAGO, August 3.—The Tribune's La Crosse special gives the details of a terrible explosion of a boiler attached to a steam thrasher working at the farm of C. J. Jones, near Chatfield, Minn. The machine was in full operation when the explosion occurred. The engineer, Lawton, was blown one hundred and sixty feet, his body breaking off a tree-top twenty feet from the ground, and was instantly killed. Charles Arnold, band cutter, was literally torn to pieces, and portions of his body scattered all around the separator. Wm. Burnett, measurer, had the top of his head taken off by a piece of boiler. Everett Jones, feeder, had a leg and arm badly broken. The boiler was blown a distance of two hundred feet.

Killed by a Policeman.

ST. LOUIS, September 3.—About 8 o'clock this evening a young man, named James Liddle, became somewhat boisterous and unruly in Carr Park, and a private watchman put him out. Liddle then threw a rock towards the Park, which struck the fence, doing no harm. The watchman then called upon Police Officer Woodlock to arrest Liddle, but instead of doing this it is asserted that he drew his pistol, and without the slightest provocation, Liddle offering no resistance, shot him through the heart, killing him instantly. Woodlock was arrested and the matter will be thoroughly investigated to-morrow.

The Irish Rifle Team.

NEW YORK, September 3.—The steamship City of Berlin, from Liverpool, with the Irish rifle team, has arrived.

—Florence Nightningale has sent a contribution of 10 guineas to the Eastern Sick and Wounded Relief Fund, with the following litter. "Good cheer to your efforts to help the sick and wounded of both sides, and bring them hospital and medical necessaries and comforts, too. I hope, in this heartrending war—a war for a cause as intensely interesting as the cause of most wars is uninteresting; a war which will, please God, at last bring freedom, the safety and blessing of home, of industry, of progress, all that English men and English women and English children must prize—let every English child give its mite to what are now the Valleys of the Shadow of Death. But for this, 'to execute righteousness and judgment to all the opposed,' we must help righteously the sufferers on all sides. So God speed the Eastern War Sick and Wounded Relief Fund, prays Florence Nightingale, from her sick bed, August 15, 1876."

—We are indebted to a laborious statistician for the means of arriving at an answer to the question, Who are the elite of New York? He has compiled a directory of those gilt-edged persons, and we therefore tender to the industrious author of this little volume our profoundest thanks. We never knew who the elite of New York were, except as we judged our fellow citizens by the cultivation of their manner, the absence in them of all pretension, their high breeding, their intellectual resource, and their careful fulfillment of the social duties incumbent on them.—New York Sun.
